THE STRENGTH OF THE NEW MINISTRY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

QUEREC, Friday, Sopt. 22, 1854. The us w Government is fairly installed and the majority they may depend upon to support their measares pretty well ascertained. The immediate danger threatens it, if it be really in any danger at all, lies in the opposition that the new members of the Cabinet may encounter to their reclection. At prosout, however, matters do not look serious for the Ministry, even in that respect. The write would reach of the constituencies in the early part of the week. It is believed that Sir Allan NeNab and Attorney-General Macdonald will be returned without opposition. The other three members will probably be opposed; but even this is not at present certain.

be opposed: but even him is not a present certain.

Loyal speech was not answered till sixteen days ester the opening of the session had elapsed. We wast of following British practice, but in this respect synte from it is the widest possible way; for the practice is in Engiand generally to peas the sex without opposition, we never fall to protract the subset upon it for several days, to move all sorts of amendments and to discuss all sorts of questions. Less without opposition, we never fall to protract the abute upon it for several days, to move all sorts of amendments and to discuss all sorts of questions, past, procent and future. The first division upon the address was on the paragraph which contained an admission that a change in the Constitution of the Legislative Council is imperatively required. No amendment was moved to this paragraph, and the division upon it showed that the House was nearly ananimously in favor of making the second Legislative Chamber elective, the vote having stood ninety four against six. This change is advocated by different parties for different reasons; by some because they wish to give greater weight and importance to the deliberations and conclusions of this branch of the Legislature, and by others from the belief that it will render the present system of Government impracticable and lead to the election of the Governer-General by the people, and the adoption, wholesale, of the system of Government which prevals in the United States.

The first rest vote, which showed the strength of parties in the House, was on the paragraph relating to the theory Reserves. The amendment proposed to introduce the word "secularization;" but as the Mingraphic and the adoption of the prevals in the secularization; but as the Mingraphic that the position. The real object was, of course, to upset the new Ministry; and as such it was understated and treated by a large unjority of those who wish to carry secularization. The vote on the smoothment was 33 against 70; and the figures show the relative degree of support the new Ministry is likely to obtain out of the proportion of members present. In Monday night an understanding had been come that the debate should close on the next night; but on Wednesday morning at 3 o'clock a moment was 33 against 10 and the new Ministry is likely to obtain out of the proportion of members present. In Monday night an understanding had been come to that the debate should close on the next night; but on Wednesday morning at 3 o'clock a motion was made to adjourn the debate. Ministers insisted on an adherence to the agreement to close the debate at that sitting, but were answered by Mr. Mackenzie that he had not assented to the arrangement. After the failure of several motions to adjourn, Mr. Mackenzie commenced to speak, and, amid all sorts of interruptions from those who wished to close the debate, kept on for several hourn, the greater part of his discourse being an attack directed at Sir Aflan McNab. It was not till 5 o'clock A. Mr., that Mr. Laberge moved an amendment to the paragraph relating to the Seignorial Tenure question, and the hope of a speedy division become weaker than before. The Ministerialists resolved to sit out the debate, and resist every motion for adjournment, if the discussion should continue all the week. At ten minutes to 19 A. Mr., and adjournment, if the discussion should continue all the week. At ten minutes to 19 A. Mr., and adjournment, it had failing to the Seignorial Tenure question was, like that on the Clergy Reserves paragraph, merely intended for effect. The amendment on the paragraph relating to the Seignorial Tenure question was, like that on the Clergy Reserves paragraph, merely intended for effect. The amendment only asked, in other words than those ased in the royal speach, the Ministry to do that which they declared they intended to do. This amendment was rejected on a division by 2 against 25 votes; and the original paragraph was carried by a vote of 62 against 25. Those were all the test votes; and the original paragraph was carried by a large majority of the House. It has, however, but little moral strength, its supporters be to but to take place to the number of the seignorial Tenure vertices of the Legislative condition of the beautiful of the Seignorial T the Crown buying property belonging to the creation though not to any considerable extent, has existed through a long series of administrations, and was never before now called in question. The only case of this kind charged against two of the late Ministers, was the purchase of some public property, about 200 acres I believe, at auction, in this city last winter.

Before this letter reaches you the probability is that the bill introduced last night by Attorney-General Drummend, to bring our laws into harmony with those of the United States, will have passed through all its stages in both Houses. Government have announced their intention to press it through the second and third readings in the Legislative Assembly tonight. If so it will puse through the Legislative Council on Monday, or at latest on Tuesday, and receive the Royal assent next day. ceive the Royal assent next day.

KAMSCHATKA.

By the arrival of the American brig Boston, Capt. Hedges, we have advices from Petropaulski, a Russian port on the peninsula of Kamachatka, up to July 16.

Hodges, we have advices from retropansiti, a Russian port on the peninsula of Kamachatka, up to July is.

Prom a gentleman attached to the Boston, we have gubered intelligence of much interest just at this Jucture, regarding the movements of the Russians at that place.

At the time the Boston left there was in port a double banked Russian frigate of 44 guns—the corvette Olleutra of 22 guns, from the Baltic, with a Baltic crew—a Guarda Costa and the Russian-American Co.'s ship Kamschatka, armed with eight guns, and with a crew of twenty men.

News of the war in Europe had been brought to retropaulish by the American bark Bhering, and the Russians were making great preparations to resist an anticipated attack by the allied fleet. The port] is defended by several fortifications, and new ones are being creeked, consisting of one or two masked batteries, with three or four mortars.

The Governor has under his command a full regiment of soldiers, thoroughly equipped, and is confident that he can stand a pretty long siege.

Petropaulski centains between 3,400 and 4,000 inlabiants, including a few Americans and Englishmen, and one American store. Everybody is obliged to be soldier of a sailor, and to respond to the Governor all at a moment's notice.

The town is situated on an inland bay, the entrance to which, from the ocean, is through a narrow inlet, three miles in length, studded with islands, and commanded by several batteries. A vessel may enter without danger, although there are many difficulties in and out in a fog.

The Governor thinks, and our informant also, that it would be impossible to take the without danger, although there are many difficulties to encounter. Capt. Hedges, with the Boston, beat in and out in a fog.

The Governor thinks, and our informant also, that it would be impossible to take the post with anything abort of a fleet of steamers, as new batteries are being built to cover every approach. The Russians were deaily looking for the arrival at Petropaulati of an English frigate and corvette on their way to Amoor Eliver, at the mouth of which they (the Russians) have built several strong forts.

The ship Kamschatka in port, was recently from Valparniso, and was said to be bound for a port in the Ohotak, thence to Sitka.

We learn that the Boston got ashore on the island of Nanivock, in Cook's Inlet, during a dame fog. The Indians made an attack upon her, but were beatan of without loss. Capt. Hedges was obliged to throw overboard a part of the cargo to get off.

A special meeting of the Canal Board is to be held on the 20th inst. to locate the new line of the Hrie Chasl between Brighton and Maccoon.

INDETENDENCE, Thursday, Sept. 20, 1854.

The Santa Fé mail has just arrived—the rumor of Aubrey's death fully confirmed. He reached Santa Fe on the 18th of August, having traveled in advance of his train, and stopped at the house of Mr. Mercure, Maj. Weightman, who waspresent at the time, walked in to welcome him back; they met, shook hands, and engaged in conversation. Aubrey asked Weightman to take a drink, which he doclined; he then inquired of Weightman what had become of his newspaper, the Amigo del Pais? Weightman replied that it had died a natural death. Aubrey remarked that he was gled of it, as there were articles published in it, in relation to his former trip to California, which were lies. Weightman said it was not so. Aubrey, with animation and striking his fist on the counter, replied, I say it is so. Weightman then threw a glass of brandy and water in his face. Aubrey immediately drew from his left side a revolver, and, in the act of raising or bringing it to a level, one barrel was prematurely discharged and the ball passed through the ceiling. Weightman drew a bawie-knife and rushed upon him, and before Aubrey could again discharge his pistol stabbed him in the abdomen. He died in ten minutes. Surgeon DeLeon, U. S. A., was called in, but could do nothing. Weightman immediately surrendered himself to the Marshal, and was held to bail by an examining Court in the sum of two thousand dollars. Much censure is attached to each party by their respective friends. It is said no one regrets it more than Weightman.

No mention is made of Aubrey having performed the trip upon a wager. It was said he was successful in fieding a good wagon route south of the line pursued by Lieut. Whipple having brought a wagon with him as far as the Colorado; after which there would be no trouble.

A NEGRO EMPEROR, A SENSIBLE MAX.—Some years ago, Faustin L, who now wields the imperial sceptre over the Island of San Domingo, worked in the sugar and coffee fields for his owner under the unpretending name of Soulouque. It may not be uninteresting to know that the former master of the present emperor is an old and highly respected citizen of this place, and that from time to time he receives friendly messages from his old slave. A week or two since, he was pleasantly surprised with the receipt of several bags of coffee and a package of sugar, accompanied by quite an affectionate letter from his imperiel majesty. It would appear that the parvenus of San Domingo differ from the parvenus of America. Soulouque's good fortune has neither obliterated the remembrance of his former condition, nor checked, nor diminished his old affections. (St. Louis Dem.

SERIOUS STABBING AFFAIR. JEALOUSY THE CAUSE.

The Police of the First Patrol District, on Sunday night, heard an alarm of "Watch!" "Murder!" &c., issuing from the public house and lager beer shop No. 50 Greenwich-st., and immediately went in to see what the matter was. It was at once ascert ined that Helena Myers, a beautiful German girl, had been stabbed in the region of the heart, by a large dirk-knife, alleged to have been in the hands of William Sheafenburgh, a Swedish sailor, and lover of his victim. He was arrested forthwith, and taken to the Station-House for the night. Captain Halpin, who was present, seeing the blood issue from the wound the poor girl had received, ordered her removal to the Newark Hospital, where Dr. Derby, on making an examination, ascertained the wound to be very dangerous, and perhaps fatal in its character. From what could be learned, Sheafenburgh and Helena came over from Germany, not long since, in the same ship. During the voyage he became much attached to her and wasted her to marry him on arriving in New-

She postponed the matter, however, for further consideration, and last night on entering the house where she was, he saw a young man near her on the sofa. At this he was so much coraged that he drew the knife and stabbed her as stated. The police arrested several parties who saw the occurrence and caused them to be detained as witnesses. The proprietor of the house where this terrible assault was committed, is one of the many persons in the First Ward under indictment for selling liquor without license.

ARREST OF LYNCH, CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER.

Officer Charles Wood, of the Third Ward Police, yesterday morning succeeded in arresting the boy John Lynch, 14 years of age, who stands charged by the Coroner's Jury with having caused the death of Charles Callaban, in Cedar-st, on the 12th inst., by triking him on the head with a stone, and knocking him down while in a fight or skirmish. Lynch has been out of the City since the assault was committed until a day or two since, when he returned to his mother's residence, No. 131 Greenwich-st. Coroner O'Donnell, before whom he was taken, committed him to the Tombs to await his trial for murder or man-

He was seen to throw a stone into the crowd and was otherwise disorderly.

GRAPES -We speke a few days ago of the grapes grown at the Iona vineyard, owned by John Beveridge of Newburgh, and Dr. Grant en Wagner's Island, in the Hudson River, three miles above Peekskill, not for the purpose of drawing attention to the fruit, so much as to the fact that grapes of delicious flavor can be grown upon many a waste spot near this city. That we did not over-rate the quality was fully acknowledged in our editorial rooms on Saturday by pound box sent us from that vineyard. The bunches, both of Catawba and Isabella, were well formed, ful and beavy, and the berries fully matured and sweet. Now the question is, if we can have such fruit perfeetly ripened on the 23d day of September, forty miles north of this City, what in the name of common sense, if farmers have any, is the reason that we can not have grapes enough raised to supply the demand and keep the price below 18; cents a pound, at which ture of them are now retailing? THE BREEVOORT HOUSE,-One of the most elegant hotels in this City, and in some particulars differing from any in the country, has just been opened by Messrs. Judson & Sanderson at the corner of Fifth-av. and Eighth-st , and is called the Brevoort House. The building is large, but combines all the domestic repose, cleanliness and luxury of the most fashionable mansion. The materials of its construction and the decorations of the walls are artistically beautiful, and in all the requirements of carpets curtains, farnitare, baths, etc., it leaves nothing to be desired by the most dainty and exigeant taste. We do not know any hotel in Europe that will compare with it in its multitudinous attractions. The distinction between the Brevoort House and the leading great hotels of this City lies prominently in the absence of a table d'hote, or general meals. There is a spleudid eating-hall, but here each party or person has a separate table and calls by the eard for what is wanted, which is paid for and nothing more. Meals too are served in the rooms of the occupants if required. Mr. Judson, the senior partner, is one of the most experienced hotelkeepers among us, and Mr. Sanderson, the junior, is rapidly acquiring a Grand Vatel reputation for the irreproachable excellence with which he has any and every dish served.

ARREST ON A BESCH WARRANT FOR MURDER .-Officer Spicer of the Court of General Sessions yesterday arrested Henry Glad, on a bench warrant, charging him with the murder of James McKenna, by stab-bing, on the 22d July last, while in an affray in a carpenter's shop in Twenty-eighth-st. He was conveyed before Justice Welsh and committed to await the action of the Court of Oyer and Terminer in October

LANDSLIDE ON THE HUDSON RIVER RAILROAD-DETENTION OF THE CARS .- Yesterday morning the first expues train from Albany on the Railroad was detained for above one hour by a heavy elide of tocks, which covered the track for some distance near Tiveli. THE LATE CONSPIRACY CASE—EXAMINATION RE-

FORE JUSTICE STUART.-The examination of Francis Ryder and Anna Kech, charged with conspiracy to defraud Sebastian Davis, a Roman Catholic priest, was commenced yesterday afternoon before Justice Stuart. The complainant deposed that he first saw the woman Koch at his house, where she called for meistance, representing herself to be poor and needy. He gave her half a dollar. She called a second time seen afterward and he gave her #1. She made a third call after this and begged for $2, and that he would endeavor to find her employment. He felt interested in her case and said he would do so. She requested him to call and see her at her stopping-place, corner of Avenue C and Thirteenth-st , he might convince himself that she needed assistance. On the following day he did call, and met the woman on the sidewalk. She asked him to her room, and on entering he remarked that the weather was very warm, when she asked him to take off his coat. He did so, and she immediately locked the door on the inside and threw the key out of the win-low. She then asked him to undress himself. [Whether he did so or not is unknown, as the witness refused to answer the question on that point.] He had been in the room but a few minutes when in rushed the other accused and another person. The former asked him his busi-ness in the room of his wife, and before he had time to answer threatened violence to him unless he paid him $500, and then promised if he did so to let him stay as long as he pleased with his erow. The priest signed an obligation to pay $500, and was then suffered to leave. The case was here adjourned until Saturday next.

THE LATE FIGHT AMONG PUGILISTS.-The examination of Tom Byer and other pugilists charged with assault and battery upon John Lyng at a house in Mercer-st., about ten days since, was by appointment to take place yesterday before Justice Osborne, but, on account of the absence of counsel for the defense, the case was adjourned to this alternoon.

At theideath of his father, the Rev. Dr. Lewis of Greenwich Cooperstown, he appointed the unint in that seen. At the death of his father, the Nev. For several years he has resided with his children in this City, but was enabled to preach up to the commencement of his fatal illness, about four weeks since. Mr. Isaac Lewis was the twin brother of Mr. Zachariah Lewis, formerly the editor and proprietor of this paper. Both were educated for the ministry.

ACCIDENT ON THE THIRD-AV. RAILROAD .- Ceroner Ball held an inquest yesterday upon the body of James Lamb, aged 8 years, a son of Patrick Lamb, who came to his death by being run over by one of the railroad care of the Greenwood route, on Third av., rear Thirty sixth st. From the evidence it appears that the boy was in the habit of jumping on the care to take a ride—in this instance he got in front and the conductor that he was in the care to take a ride—in this instance he got in front and the conductor tall him to a first and t appears that he doy was in the hand of Junping of the cars to take a ride—in this instance he got in front and the conductor told him to get off. In swinging from the platform he fell backward upon the track and the front wheel passed over his head, killed him instantly. The verdict of the Jury was in accordance with the fact. The conductor and driver were held

The Jury recommend the Common Council to pass an ordinance forbidding boys from jumping on the platform of the cars while in motion, under a penalty of $5 for each offense, to be collected from the pa-of $5 for each offense, to be collected from the parents, or, in default of payment, the imprisonment of the child for a reasonable length of time.

SUIT AGAINST AN EXPERSS CARGERA.

William Beardaice agt John R. Wyman.

A driver of an express wagon of defendant took a truck from the Eric Rallroad Depot, belonging to Mr. B. with the colours to carry it on board a steamboat. The truck was lost, and will is brought against the winer of the express wagon for the value. Swam for defendant.

The following is the opinion of Judge Phillips:

This action is brought to recover $163, being the value of a truck and contents intrusted by plaintiff to defendant as a common carrier to course on hourd the steamboat John Neilson.

The plaintiff insists that the truck was not delivered as directed. The defendant produced the youing man who drove the express wagon, who testified that he delivered the truck at the gangway of the John Neilson to a person who represented himself as the hargans-master of the boax. When the event of the boat were brought together, the young man was unable to identify any of them as the person to whom he delivered is bound to exercise prudence and care in the desamboat John of a demand at a samboat is bound to exercise prudence and care in the de-analise to signify any of them, as the person to whom he de-liver it the funk.

A common carrier who is directed to leave goods on board a strambeat is bound to exercise prudence and care in the de-livery of it to a person authorized to receive it, and failing to this he is labele in case of loss.

Throwing bagage exclessly on the deck, or leaving it on the wharf at the gamplank, is not such a delivery as elsewages the carman. He is bound to see and take at least ordinary care that the person no board the boat has authority to receive it. A delivery of goods to the wrong person does not exonar-ate the carman. (2 Stevens, N. P. 951.)

As to the question of the assignment, I have no doubt bot it coveys the right action to the plaintiff. Indigment for plain-tiff for amount with costs, and allowance of $110 by statute.

owarder on agreement;) beyond the line of its road, and gave judgment for defendant.

OPTHON.

The following is the opinion of Judge Phillips:
This action is brought to recover the value of a box or trunk containing degreeredype appears and clothing, delivered to the defeadant, to be transported, as is alleged; to Cincinnati. The trunk was taken to the Company's depot at the foot of Dean-et, and the following ticket given to the person who let it, being a copy of the address on the low:

Anter Ernes, Cincinnati, Ohio, Care Mr. Kles, No. 119 Sycamore-et. I chest luggage. Snown. May 5, 1854."

The defendant produced their tally clork at Dunkirk, who proved that on the 12th May hat a box bearing the above mark, was received by him from the care at Dunkirk, and by him shipped the same day, by the boat for Cievaland, Ohio, that being the usual poute to Cincinnati.

The plaintiff claims that the defendant, as common carriers, undertook to deliver the box in question at Cincinnati, as per direction, and that they are liable for their failure in doing so. The defendants are an incorporated company for the transportation of firstpht and passengers from New York to Dunkirk, and to the extent of their like they are to be deemed common carriers.

In order to make them liable beyond the terminus of the line.

tains of freight and passengers from New-York to Dunkirk, and to the extent of their line they are to be deemed common carriers.

In order to make them liable beyond the terminus of the line as common carriers, an express agreement to carry must be shown. This the plaintiffs contends is to be inferred from the receipt given by the Company's agent at New-York.

When a box of goods is delivered to a common carrier, marked in a particular manner, without any direction except such as way be inferred from the marks themselves, the carrier has a right to presume that the concluses of the goods intends the carrier shall transport and deposit them in the usual way, and if the owner of the goods neglects to make the necessary inquiries as the usego or custom of the business, or to sirve directions as to the disposal of the goods, it is his own fault, and the loss, if any after the carrier has performed his day second ing to the ordinary course of his trade and business, should ling to the ordinary course of his trade and business, should ling to the ordinary course of his trade and business, should ling to the ordinary course of his trade and business, should ling to the ordinary course of his trade and business, should ling to the ordinary course of his trade and business, should ling to the ordinary course of his trade and business, should ling to the ordinary course, was received at Dunkirk, was checked upon the way-course, was received at Dunkirk, was checked upon the way-course, the life the presence of their course common carriers, the derindants seem to have performed their duty.

Is there, then, any agreement shown by which the defendant received to transport the goods beyond the line of their route? contracted to transport the goods beyond the line of their route?

the Company specially hable further than they would have been if no such receipt had been given and the delivery of the lax by the tally clerk on beard the steamer at Cleveland, marked in the manner, is clearly proved. It is a simple salamous ledgement by the clerk or agent at the spec, that he had received a bear of ingrare with a particular mark thereon, which, so far so giving the receipt was connermed was a more merk of identity. [Van S. at St. J., & Hill.] An armound the rule of law which now assume to established is that current carriers are not liable for the activy of roots beyond the route on which they are carrying, and I, therefore, an only treat the defendants as "forwarders" beyond brakis. [Ackley et al., Medic. S. Cowan, 222.]

COMMERCIAL MATTERS

Sales at the Stock Exchange SEPT. 52.

MONDAY, Sept. 25-P. M.

Mondat, Sept. 25—P. M.

The Stock market showed a very marked change to-day from the activity of last week. There was quite an unexpected absence both of bayers and selers. The bears evinced no disposition to operate for a fall, and the sellers options offered being very few, the orders to buy at market rates were extremely limited. The feature of the market was the small sales of Erie, only seven shares being sold at the First Board and ten at the Second Board. Within a week or ten days the sales of Erie in a day have reached 8,000 shares. Probably there has not been a day in the last five years when the rates of Erie at the First the last five years when the rates of Erie at the Fir Board were so small. At the first call there were no transactions in Erie, Harlem, Nicaragua and Canton, four of the usually active stocks. There were but few parcels of Eric offered, and those at prices above the orders to buy. After the Board some three or four shares sold to make deliveries at 441, which is 11 W cent. above the closing price of Saturday. At the Second Board the market closed at 434. Cash stock is scarce, and loans can be ob tained on it without interest from those who have atock to deliver and profer to borrow rather than buy in. Reading declined \(\frac{1}{2} \) cent. Harlom was steady.
